The Laurel

When our coveted high school diplomas were finally obtained, we turned from our carefree days of ballgames, parties, and club meetings to the serious question of choosing a career. We sought for the answer in college catalogues, quarterlies, and bulletins. Our friends and relatives influenced our decision and helped us realize that Mars Hill, being highly recommended and offering the clear philosophy of plain living and high thinking and its beautiful setting among the mountains was and shall always remain. . . .

Come Our Seven Beauties

In the midst of student activities an election was held to determine candidates from both the C-I and C-II classes for the '53 LAUREL. Those seven girls who received the highest number of votes are pictured in both formal and campus poses on the following pages. Enhancing the college with their charm, these beauties represent the wide scope of physical attractiveness at Mars Hill which ranges from delicateness to athletic grace.

May

Day

The warm May day sun shown brightly down as the cool spring breeze rustled programs over the sudden hush of the expectant spectators. With the first strains of the procession, all eyes turned to watch the lovely and smiling attendants in pastel shades of scalloped eyelet organdy with bouquets of summer flowers in their hands descend the amphitheatre steps to take their places at the Queen's throne.

Wearing a frothy dress of pale blue, Maid of Honor Gaynelle Chandler, began her slow descent. As the strains of the procession swelled, beautiful Queen Sarah Thomas, resplendent in white taffeta, tulle, and lace with calla lilies in her arms went down to receive her crown from King Marion Powell.

Ellen Sprinkle became a witch and Carolyn Anderson donned the clothes of the boy Hansel with Iris Summers playing his sister Gretel as the famous Humperdinck operetta "Hansel and Gretel" was presented for the pleasure of the Queen. This is the story of a poor broom-maker and his wife who live in a lonesome cottage with their children. The father and mother go to the village to sell brooms leaving the children at home to work. They go to roam through the woods to fill their baskets with strawberries, when eventide finds them bewildered in the darkening forest haunted by fairies and witches. Day breaks as the children awoke to find a beautiful little house built of all manner of good things to eat. There were clever antics by the gingerbread men and graceful dancing on the part of the fairies. Laurels to Coach Virginia Hort and her assistants for their superb production. . . . "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

The B.S.U. is an inseparable part of life at Mars Hill. From the time of our arrival until our departure, this organization takes its place in our life and makes deep impressions which remain through the years.

The B.S.U. is the link between the student and the church. Its work is guided by the council which meets weekly and plans a religious program striving to deepen the spiritual life of the student. To the B.S.U. we owe many thanks, for it is the embodiment of Christ on our campus.

Mission Council

The Mission Council is the missionary division of the B.S.U. It is composed of the student leaders of the various off-campus missionary activities. Among these are week-end revivals, youth for Christ rallies, prison camp services, weekly services at Oteen Hospital and services at the Negro mission. Those who participate in these activities gain invaluable experiences and blessings which deepen their appreciation for a Christian life and inspire them to further service.

The group above is typical of the enthusiasm exhibited in one of the Mission Council services. With portable organ, song books, and microphone, they carry inspirational messages to many places.

Harold Gore has served ably as Mission Council Chairman. The Holy Bible, the World, and Foreign Flags symbolize the objectives of missions.

Sunday School Presidents

Every Sunday morning at 9:45 this group of young people went to the various meeting places to lead our college Sunday School classes. Because of their faithfulness and untiring efforts, our Sunday School classes have gone forward through the year.

Volunteers for Christ

The Volunteers for Christ wish to portray Christ in their daily activities and lend inspiration and guidance to others. For those who have dedicated their lives for the purpose of Christianity, the Volunteers provide beneficial training. President of this group is Jerane Page.

Training Union Presidents

In each union, from Bykota to We Live Christ, the programs are planned and carried out by a capable president. Their zeal and enthusiasm have caused much activity on the hill on Sunday evenings. Much inspiration and valuable training is received because of their efforts.

The weekly meetings of the Ministerial Conference offer the young ministerial students of the college training in preaching and effective Bible reading. Experience is also gained in missionary activities and in the solution of pastoral problems. Years of experience as ministers and teachers enable the faculty advisers of the organization to offer suggestions and criticisms which are of great value to the members.

M. Y. F.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship is an organization which provides for the Methodist students on the campus the same opportunities for training and fellowship as is afforded by the BTU. A spirit of friendly co-operation exists between these two organizations.

The Youth Temperance Council has its purpose on the campus and elsewhere the furthering of temperance. This organization, national in its scope, has a representative on the BSU Council. Its work is of importance on the campus, and one will find a hearty welcome if he is interested in promoting the principles of temperate living.

Y. W. A.

The Young Woman's Auxiliary has a special place in Christ's program in giving students a broader and more adequate conception of world conditions and missionary activities. Each girls' dormitory has one or more circles which meet once a month. Also once a month there is a general assembly in the auditorium. Chapel programs and a study course are further activities of the YWA year.

Brains, perseverance, determination, purpose, talent, manners, character, social graces—that is what it takes. The marshals are selected each year early in the Spring from the Junior Class by a committee of the faculty and serve at the numerous programs and functions of the college.

Scriblerus

Qualified leaders are essential on college campuses in order that the various organizations function properly. Even though many students have traits of leadership, they are unable to lead effectively. In developing these traits and those of creative abilities, the Scriblerus Club provides numerous campus leaders each year. Throughout the year the club plans programs which create interest, kindle imagination, and promote appreciation in the realm of literature.

International Relations

In today's world of turmoil and confusion, no peace is to be found until men learn to understand each other. In order to know the people of another nation, one must go beyond the usual interest in dress, customs, and government to an understanding which is based on love. Thus, the members of I.R.C. strive through study and discussion of other nations to establish an appreciation of the peoples of the world.

Standing: Bill Jones, Talmage Williams, Mr. Jolley, George Pullum, Carolyn Gragg, Elaine Buss, Irma Garland, Mary Jane White, Martha Ann Reeves, Barbara Donehoo, Louise McCall, Sara Frances Jones, Frankie Drake, Bessie Belle Holland, Jean Echols, Nancy Huyler, Warner Bumgardner, Bob Graham, Ray Leach, Ira Greene. Seated: Miss Underwood, Barbara Strickland, Carmen Bolick, Ruby Mays, Libby Jordan.

La Tertulia

La Tertulia, the haven for Spanish majors and others actively interested in Hispanic culture and background, fosters the development of a wider knowledge of Spanish speaking countries and promotes friendly relations and a co-operative spirit among them and English speaking nations. The activities of La Tertulia this year have included initiation programs, a South American dinner program, and a Christmas playlet.

German

The members of the German Club plunge deep in a study of great figures in the literature and interesting phases of the language of the German people. Information from and correspondence with Germany and Heidelberg University is promoted by the club under the leadership of Mrs. Vann. This year the club and students of the German department were addressed by Dr. Wadewitz, head of the American Enka Corporation in Germany and vice-president of the foundation.

Standing: A. P. Johnson, John Garren, Charles Frisbee. Seated: Faye Carter, Bernice Neal, Margaret Marr, Mrs. Vann.

Standing: Janet Egelston, Margaret Johnston, Ruby Ellis. Seated: Elizabeth Wall, Edith Lyday, Martha Williams, Rebecca Church, Gloria Price.

French

The French Club is organized for students with a special interest in the French language. It is designed to acquaint students with French culture and to develop ease in speaking French. These objectives are attained through the regular monthly meetings at the home of the adviser, Mrs. Nona Roberts.

Business

In the Business Club perhaps is found a number of the future business men and women of the world. Promoting gracious living by setting standards of good taste and conduct is emphasized in the monthly meetings as the members combine the study of particulars in their prospective field with a pleasant social life. They draw information and inspiration from educational movies, and lectures.

A biology or chemistry student might tell you that these are the specific and favorable conditions necessary for the production of simple foods and the ultimate continuance of life itself; however, a knowledge of these and other more complicated factors involved in scientific studies also provide the basis for the eligibility of a member of the Science Club.

Orpheon

Of all the beautiful things, none can surpass the beauty of music. To enjoy this beauty fully, a realization of its magnificence must be kept in the heart as well as in the mind. The Orpheon Club assists one in attaining this realization by offering an opportunity to improve discernment. Each Orpheon, expressing his or her musical abilities, receives experience and growth while appreciating the beauty in music.

Art Club

Mix one plaster foot, three shriveled grapes, one red velvet drape, (five minutes off for student center gossip), and one flight of the Bumble-bee. Add one cider decanter while stirring in eight tubes of cobalt (five minutes off for a couple of servings of the ping pong paddle), together with linseed oil and turpentine. Sift in three tablespoons cafeteria coffee grounds (if not available use sand). Simmer and stew for three hours a week in a fluorescent lighted room. Results? Not the witches' brew from Macbeth, but one art student's abstraction. One doesn't necessarily have to accomplish such a feat to be a member of the art club, but all students interested in art are welcome. This club holds art exhibitions and teas twice a year.

Dramateers

The dramatics club, the Dramateers, is open to all students of the college. This organization sponsors dramatic activities on the campus. Hours of seemingly hopeless tryouts, dress rehearsals, and adapting props to our inadequate stage do not discourage the enthusiastic actors. In addition to providing entertainment for the student body and an opportunity for its members to try their skill before the footlights, Dramateers offers training in methods of make-up, costume construction, and lighting. The group is responsible for a major production each semester and the 1952-53 season was launched with a comedy entitled "Family Circle" under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Watson. Short plays are presented by Dr. Ella J. Pierce's religious drama players at the regular monthly meetings of the organization. They participate in the annual play festival at U.N.C.

There's probably a no more beautiful region in eastern America than the mountain of Western, N. C., in the midst of which our campus is located. The scenic beauties afford much inspiration for the artistically inclined.

Our versatile dramateers are pictured in one of the many humorous scenes from their fall production "Family Circle." Cornelia Otis Skinner played by Barbara Doudou is imitating a dying swan.

The Band

The college band is open to all instrumentalists and contains two separate organizations. The marching band serves the College in playing at all major athletic contests, chapel programs, and parades, and serves musicians on campus by providing musical recreation. The concert band serves to prepare and present a more cultural type of instrumental music and is composed of the more advanced musicians.

The Orchestra

The college orchestra proved that much can be done with a few interested musicians. Small numbers and limited instrumentation are always a handicap in such an organization, but the versatility of Director Warren

Benson in arranging musical scores for the group made it possible for the orchestra to participate in several programs during the year. This group has helped students reach a greater appreciation of fine music.

College Choir

The college choir is one of the best means of advertisement afforded by the school. Each spring this group goes on tour to carry a bit of the spirit of Mars Hill to audiences throughout the surrounding states. Last year the choir sang more than eighteen concerts in North and South Carolina. Their 1953 itinerary will carry them through the state of Virginia and into Washington, D. C. This group is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Weaver and is open to the student body. Selection is based on tone quality and ability to read music.

The Glee Club

Under the direction of Mr. Orman Spivey, the glee club has expanded to become the largest musical organization on the campus. It is composed of a men's and women's chorus and is open to the student body. This group participated in several programs during the year and proved that ability to combine voices in beautiful melody is not limited to trained musicians.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club provides an opportunity for development in the elements of personal homemaking. Each member gets valuable on-the-job-training through planning and serving parties and banquets, preparing food for sale in the girls' dorms on Friday nights, and presenting monthly meetings which spotlight home economics as an attractive career. Each spring the club sponsors an open house to display their handiwork in the latest styles in clothing and original art pieces of various sizes, shapes and fashions. Club officers are Virginia Mumford, President; Emma Lou Chappell, Vice-President; Jean Echols, Secretary; Ila Marie Kornegay, Treasurer; and Joyce Sinclair and Sybil Lennon, Reporters.

Debate Club

The Debaters commendably represent the school against other junior colleges and outstanding senior colleges. The members receive individual attention and training and learn the mechanics of public speaking through experience. They learn to express themselves in an effective way.

Nursing Club

The pre-nursing students represent a group of girls who are intensely interested in nursing as a profession. They study the opportunities in the field and together they seek information about the varied schools of nursing. Mrs. Howell and Nurse Eva Brewer are advisers for the group.

"Back it up with a steady beat, Mars Hill College just can't be beat." The deafening noise of the Cheerleaders and fans as they "whooped it up" may soon have faded into nothingness, but the spirit of the yell was to echo and reecho even stronger and the Saturdays passed by. Before the rugged Lions sent their grass-stained uniforms to the laundry for the final cleaning and hung up their battered pads and mud-clad shoes until another season, they had proved that they "just can't be beat."

An 8-2 record, seven straight victories, W.C.J.C. Championship, a 100 yard run, 4 straight pass completions, spectacular punts, magnificent catches, an impenetrable line, perfect blocking—this was the 1952 edition of the Lions in a nut shell.

"Practice makes Perfect"—As the Lions believed football no exception, Coaches Don J. Henderson and Bob Edwards applied this rule as eleven veterans and twenty-one CI's answered the first call to practice on September 3—the result, of course, a near perfect team.

As could be expected, the team made a few mistakes at first, but after their brilliant coaches knocked off the rough edges in practice, they were not to be stopped.

The Lions were tamed in their first outing by a stubborn Edwards Military Institute in a 14-7 affair. Conner scored the T.D. while Elkin added the extra point.

The Lions tasted victory in their second game at the expense of North-Greenville on September 20 by a 14-12 margin. "Red" DeBruhl scored both marks behind excellent support from the team.

While the season was yet green, the Lions suffered their second and final defeat at the hands of the Lees-McRae Bobcats by a 6-0 score.

The Lions took the "big one" and began their endless romp on the victory path as they whipped highly taunted Asheville-Biltmore 7-0. The lone score came on a Lonnie Conner pass to Joe Byrd who lateraled to Dee Cross for the winning score.

The Chowan Braves visited the campus on Oct. 4, to become the next victim of the rearing Lions as Tweed and Cross combined their winning power in a 7-0 victory. The fans obtained the biggest thrill of the year on October 28 as Mars Hill eeked past Gardner-Webb 14-13. Lonnie Conner gave a great passing exhibition as he completed four straight passes, the first three in a T.D. march and the fourth pass for the extra point. The Lions lost their lead, but Conner again waxed hot as he aeriaded to Byrd on the two and then bolted over for the T.D. DeBruhl added the game-winning extra point.

On Nov. 1, Conner again stole the show as he scrambled 100 yards for a T.D. on the opening kickoff. Cross, Tweed, and Powell clinched the game by a second quarter scoring march with Tweed collecting the six-pointer. DeBruhl added his second point-after of the night.

The high-riding Lions made its five straight victories with Conner carrying the "mail" in downing Chowan 7-6.

Asheville-Biltmore became the sixth straight victim by virtue of a 14-0 licking from the Lions. Cross scored both T.D.'s on a pass and a 15 yard jaunt.

The Lions closed the season in their winning way by dubbing North-Greenville 20-7 to take the WCJCAAC crown in the final and homecoming tilt.

The '52 Lions' backfield was great, but the forward wall was probably even greater. The opponents were held scoreless on four occasions and averaged less than five points per game as the fighting linemen up front displayed their great power.

When head basketball coach Bob Edwards extended the first call to hardwood practice on December 5, forty-eight eager boys responded with high hopes of making the team. Coach Edwards whittled his traveling squad of fourteen men from these hopefuls.

Although college experience was lacking in the twelve newcomers, two able lettermen, Robert Fore and Joe Byrd, were back from the previous year to form the nucleus of the 1952-53 Lions. These boys soon developed into top-notch eagers whose outstanding talent proved invaluable to the spirited squad.

Tennis

Coach J. V. Howell led the netters to championship by winning the majority of the trophies and titles in the Southeastern Conference Tournament held at Young Harris in Georgia in 1952. Although the top players left by graduation, the prospects are good for another championship team in '53.

Baseball

Baseball Coach Don Henderson molded a championship team on the diamond. The baseballers finished the season in a deadlock for the number one spot with a 7-2 record.

Track

The cindermen had an extremely successful season in '52. The Lions took the Western Carolina Junior College Athletic championship by compelling a wide $23\frac{1}{2}$ point margin over second place Lees-McRae in the final meet.

M Club

The M-Club honors the men who have gained high recognition in varsity sports. Its purposes are to teach team-work and fair play among athletes. Under the leadership of Marion Powell, the M-Club sold concessions during basketball games, presented a well-planned Chapel program and participated in other activities.

Intramural Champs

The Rebels' football squad captured the 1952 Intramural crown by virtue of their 4-1 record. The powerful Rebels routed second place Treat by a 49-0 score as an exhibition of their power. Other teams entering were Melrose and Brown Dormitories which held the third and fourth places respectively.

Intramural All-Stars

A vital part of the Mars Hill athletic program is intramural football. Nearly one hundred boys participated in this popular sport which was under the direction of Coaches Henderson and Edwards of the faculty, and David Heizer of the student body. Highlighting the season was the choosing of an All-Star team with choices based on athletic ability and sportsmanship.

Homecoming

Approximately 2,500 people, including 400 returning alumni watched the Mars Hill Lions clinch the WCJC Football Crown by defeating North-Greenville 20-7 in a hard fought duel here Thanksgiving Day.

MHC struck pay dirt early in the game when Gene Tweed sprinted to the North-Greenville one-yard line and Allan Terrell recovered a Black Widow fumble on the next play. Morgan Elkins drove off tackle for the touchdown and Ray DeBruhl crashed for the extra point giving Mars Hill a 7-0 advantage.

The Mountain Lions tallied on a 62 yard drive late in the second period. Consecutive gains by Cross, Powell, and DeBruhl were followed by Tweed's aerial to Douglas, which carried to the one-yard line. Tweed plunged over for Mars Hill's second TD.

Tweed, who replaced the injured Lonnie Conner at quarterback for the last game of the season, then threw to Byrd for the extra point.

The fired-up Mars Hill eleven reached pay dirt again early in the third period when Cross recovered a fumble on the Black Widows 13. Cross' six-yard run and penalty placed the ball over the one-yard line where DeBruhl ploughed over. The try for the extra point was no good. It was the first time of the season that MHC had failed to score the point-after.

North-Greenville pushed across their lone touchdown late in the third quarter. A Mars Hill punt was returned to the Black Widow 45. A series of running plays with Inman carrying the pigskin drove to the two-yard line. Inman smashed across the line into the end zone and Wilson's kick for the extra point split the upright, making the score 20-7 in favor of the Mars Hill team.

It was the eighth win for Coach Don Henderson's Mountain Lions, who are WCJC Champions and who have staked claim to the State Junior College title, having defeated Gardner-Webb, eastern division champions, 14-13 earlier in the season. The Mars Hill Marching Band, aided by the high stepping Majorettes, performed magnificently for the homecoming crowd. However, the highlight of the festivities was the crowning of Roberta McBride as football queen and Barbara Barr as homecoming queen. Miss McBride was crowned by Joe Byrd, captain of the football team, and Miss Barr was crowned by President Blackwell.

Women's Athletics

The Women's Physical Education Department sponsors the Women's Athletic Association, in which membership is open to all women of the college. The organization promotes ideals of good health and sportsmanship, and each student is credited with points according to her participation and accomplishment in particular sports such as swimming, tennis, softball, hiking, soccer, archery, hockey, basketball, badminton, volleyball, and folk dancing.

In addition to promoting active participation in a variety of sports, the organization sponsors the blood bank, a spend-the-night party in the gym for its members, and runs the concession stand at football games for the benefit of the Lions Athletic Association.

The WAA Council is composed of its four officers, Sara Galloway, President; Dee Davidson, Vice-President; Eloise Bates, Secretary and Treasurer; Jean Sheets, Recorder; the M-Blem Club President; the Chairmen of each sports club; dormitory representatives; and a town representative.

The M-Blem Club for women corresponds to the M-Club for men and is open to all women who are entitled to wear the monogram for participation in sports. The officers are Betty King, President; Carole Garren, Vice-President; Frankie Drake, Secretary-Treasurer; Courtney Isenhour, Reporter.

A certain newspaper staff has had the satisfaction of knowing that everybody gets mail on Saturday night—the night that Hilltops fill all dusty post office boxes. This same staff has traditionally saved its gripes until the end of the year and poured them out on this page, and who is the staff of '53 to depart from custom? Our bi-monthly paper has had its share of sneaky deadlines and midnight poundings of typewriters, but through Johnston's "Editor's Chair" and Miss Garner's advisorship, a smooth-running Hilltop-producing machine has been created.

Even though a myth of being "inhabited by geniuses, crackpots, and cross-eyed idiots" surrounds the Hilltop office, this haven for college journalists could boast of being one of the busiest and most productive offices on campus. The important scoops of regular editions and the originality of the annual literary edition of the Hilltop have given to students a well-rounded combination of newspaper jargon and crative college life and have given those born with printer's ink in their veins ample opportunity to "buckle down and work."

Miss Garner, Adviser

Margaret Johnston, Editor-in-Chief

We, of the Hilltop staff, have endeavored to present an accurate and interesting account of the activities of Mars Hill students and faculty throughout the past year.

The Laurel

The 1953 LAUREL has been to the staff a bee hive of activity, magically motivating students and teachers alike to dash across campus for picture making, to fill out hosts of information sheets, to listen for endless chapel announcements, and more than anything else, to ask, "When will it be here?"

Although we, as other staffs, have frequently felt progress was slow and difficulties numerous and have indulged heavily in black coffee and late hours, it has been an honor and a pleasure to bind your campus life into a 1953 LAUREL. We regretfully recognize our inability to present a perfect book, but should like to thank the entire student body and faculty for making the LAUREL a reality.

In presenting you with this volume of campus life, it is our hope that among these pages each individual will find his own conception of Mars Hill.

Jim Jones, Business Manager Evelyn Dupree, Assistant Adviser

Janet Egelston, Art Editor Robert Chapman, Adviser

THE STAFF'S SWAN SONG

This LAUREL has been turned around;
We've issued a Revising Writ.
Don't think that you are upside-down
If you can't find yourself in it.

Our grades have not all fallen down,
Although the staff from books did flit
To look at copy with a frown
And in the LAUREL office sit.

We hope that padded backs thus bound
Give evidence of thought and wit,
And that these pages will resound
Our college days remembered yet.

PEARL HEAD
Asst. Mgr. of Student Center

Daily our Student Center plays an important part in each of our lives. It is here that we faithfully dust our mailboxes, meet our "steadies," and sit watchfully, hoping to get a glimpse of our S.P.'s. If we are lucky, we get a chance at ping pong and sometimes we can afford a hot chocolate. Frances and Nina are always good for a joke and Mr. Marr and Mrs. Head are faithful to our slightest needs. We appreciate the Student Center and will always cherish it in our memories.

Early in the morning, in the middle of the day, and late at night we all gather with one purpose uppermost in our mind—that of "feeding our faces." The cafeteria provides us with many experiences in everyday life and occasional highlights which we never forget as part of our Mars Hill days. When we are faint from hunger, lack of sleep, and pouring over our books, "Miss Essie" and "Dal" provide us with wholesome food over which we socialize and leave the cafeteria refreshed and ready for another dose of college life.

Those who have developed latent talents through the everyday hard work and imaginative creativeness of Clio-Phi Society readily recognize the magic improvements which this organization is capable of working upon personalities. By changing officers four times a year, Clio-Phi gives its members the opportunity to work up to positions of leadership.

Phi's sixty-second annual Anniversary program, "This is Heaven to Me," lived up to the standards of a literary program through a declamation, debate, oration, songs by a chorus, and a grand finale. Clio's fifty-seventh Reception, an adaption of Pinocchio, presented the choices and standards which one experiences in becoming a real person.

From the time of the fall C-I Term to Society Day in the spring, Clio-Phi's members learn to work together through their ideals of Truth, Purity and Fidelity and strive constantly to give Christianity a commanding position at the head of their society.

With gracefulness and poise, Non-Eu has, in its 61st year, participated actively in campus affairs, holding high its ideals of conservatism, simplicity, and dignity.

Anniversary, with the motive "Thine to Mold Us," developed the founding years of Mars Hill College in chronological order; Reception depicted through the theme, "Time and Tide," the transiency of life and the importance of being happy. Both occasions were traditionally the high peaks of the year, providing ample opportunities for the expression of sparking personalities and entertaining talent.

Knowing that Mrs. William Sidney Porter (O. Henry) is an honorary Non . . . watching the sunlight penetrate the gold curtains . . . waiting in tense excitement for election returns . . . yelling yourself hoarse at those famous pep rallies . . . these and many other memories will linger with members of Non-Eu in the world of tomorrow and will make us realize perhaps that society is worth while after all.

The stars of the "Little Dipper" burst with brilliance as they dropped their glitter-dust around the throne of Jupiter and Juno, king and queen of the gods of Mt. Olympus. A gift had been promised to the animals of the earth and the time for decision had arrived.

The Muses were summoned before the throne and each gave her petition in song for the gift which she most desired to give. For once the baughty Juno could not impose a decision and granted all the gifts to the creatures below making "the best things in life free."

Unaware that their lives were so affected by the gifts from the gods, the inhabitants of a small town on earth revealed to a cop and barber, as the morning grew more beautiful, that the "best things in life are free."

The performance staged by the "Little Dipper" on an April night in the year 1953 takes its place among great shows of previous seasons and will be remembered as long as the peoples of the earth continue to sing about "the best things in life which are free."

Junior Class

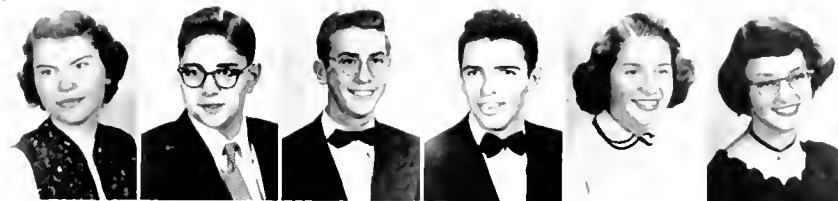

We, the Freshmen, easily distinguished from other members of the student body by high school letters, brand new clothes, and questioning expressions, turned our brand new saddle shoes toward the strange and unknown ventures of college life, eager to see and to be seen. There were gay registration lines . . . get acquainted parties . . . homesickness . . . mid-semester grades and tear-streaked eyes . . . love troubles . . . last minute term papers . . . Junior-Senior . . . our wonderful sponsors . . . everything from the "do's" and "don'ts" in Miss Caroline's rule book as how to manage a package from home. This was truly a great year with the best yet to come.

Seniors

The second rung of the ladder has been reached. The first day of class found many of our class walking on air. It could have been that some of the freshmen had pointed us out as mighty sophomores. It was fun getting back to the campus we love so well, seeing familiar faces again, and digging out remnants of much-used text books for a few cents of ready cash from the freshmen. We assumed the well-earned role as campus leaders and extended a cordial welcome and helping hand to faltering freshmen. Leading the "knit one, purl two" and "happy birthday's" in the dining hall . . . planning the biggest anniversaries and receptions ever staged . . . living in memories of "Nighttime in Dixie" . . . supporting the best football team and marching band in many a year . . . the wise counsel of our beloved sponsors who were promoted with us . . . Friday night serenades . . . church on Sunday nights . . . snow-capped mountains on winter mornings . . . are but a few of the things which bind our Alma Mater close to our hearts. As we take our sheepskin and pack our bag for the next stop on the road, we shall anticipate easier travel because our experiences and training by such principles as "Plain Living and High Thinking" will enable us to face the future with confidence.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

The LAUREL is an eloquent reminder of the part the students play in the life of Mars Hill College. My colleagues and I are fortunate in our opportunities to work with students who are happy in the environment of a campus where "plain living and high thinking" are practiced.

Living is a thrilling but dangerous adventure. Constructing a beautiful and useful life that will stand the stress and strain of modern living is a more difficult matter than that of building a material structure. Life is a continuous process of becoming rather than a static state of being. A life of rich and varied experiences does not come in a package with the bad and undesirable eliminated. There is a certain amount of sorting and choosing to be done. Each one must do that for himself.

The standard of living set by the prophet Micah "to do justly, and to live mercy, and to walk humbly with God" is a challenge to Christians today. This standard is a tributary flowing into the ideal set forth by Jesus in the statement, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect."
